

How We Can Help

We are passionate about designing engaging learning experiences for your group, and supporting you as a facilitator or organization. If you are moving training/workshops online, or need your speaking tools updated, we can help. Regier Educational Services provide custom options to for your context.

As a boutique business, we can offer fair prices and premium value.

The learner's journey begins with communications before your event. Our packages often include checklists, templates and tip sheets to support the whole event planning and implementation process. Communication is learning. We consider the experience, before, during and after your event.

How do people feel when they first log-into your meeting, training or course? Are your participant's engaged throughout, so they can apply what has been learned? Are you feeling connected to your participants online?

We can help you from start to finish, according to your specific needs. There are many points along the learning journey, which we can help you understand, improve, and consider. Design and facilitate engaging online experiences, which turn an audience into participants.

Sincerely,

Patricia Regier

TESTIMONIALS

When designing and delivering virtual training, knowing the best technology to use and how to leverage it can be overwhelming. Patricia guided us through this process with in an encouragement and expertise. The final training event was a huge hit and participants were blown away with how engaging and impactful online learning could actually be. Thanks Patricia! Tim Arnold, Leaders for Leaders

"I recently attended Patricia's workshop that shared tools to engage virtual audiences, As a speaker who has now moved to presenting and training through virtual platforms, it has become more and more critical to be able to involve audiences in interesting and fun ways. Patricia delivered an incredible amount of value with a variety of tools, apps, strategies and games to keep an audience interacting throughout the presentation. Despite it being a short workshop of only 30 mins, I was left with a ton of ideas that I could easily implement for my next online presentation. Very actionable content, and a fun workshop overall."
